

Update #: 30
Title: No Developmental Enrollment for High School or Homeschool Students.
Type: VCCS has modified its policy on admission of high school and home school students to include prohibition against any high school student being enrolled in developmental classes.
Effective: Immediately

---

Admission of High School and Home School Students

Although high school and home school students are not normally qualified for general admission, PDCCC offers admission to those students who meet additional criteria. Dual enrollment is restricted to high school juniors and seniors and home school students studying at the high school junior or senior levels. Home school students must also provide a copy of a home school agreement approved by the school district or a letter from the local school board or a copy of the letter filed by the parent/legal guardian declaring home school for religious exemption. Documentation of parental permission is required for all dual enrollment students.

Because admitting freshmen and sophomores is considered exceptional, the college ready status of each prospective freshman and sophomore student will be treated on a case-by-case basis. Formal approval by the college president is required for admitting freshmen or sophomores. All students admitted under this section must demonstrate readiness for college by meeting specified placement testing criteria.

Students enrolling in a dual enrollment course must meet all course pre-requisites. PDCCC does not enroll public or private high school students or homeschooled students in developmental courses.